People throughout Australia celebrate Harmony Day on 21st March each year. St Michaels will be celebrating the many cultures within our school community on Friday 20th March.

We will be holding a Parade of National Costumes, so children will be invited to come to school wearing traditional clothes if you have them. If the traditional clothes are really special, children may bring mufti clothes to change into after the parade. Those who do not have National costumes will be asked to wear mufti clothes in the colour orange if possible, as that is the symbolic colour for Harmony Day.

The parade will take place in the Primary Quad beginning at 9.15.

Following the parade, we would like to include our parents, grandparents, friends and neighbours in sharing our many cultures.

We would like to hear some traditional stories, songs, music and dance and perhaps art. If you would feel comfortable sharing your talents, please fill in the form below. You might like to ask some friends to join you. If you have a friend or relative who would like to share, please ask them too, as it would be a wonderful opportunity for our students to learn more about the different cultures within our school.
