2017 - ISSUE 17

31st October 2017

From the Principal

Dear Parents and Friends,

"Selecting and building the right teams is one of our most important tasks". JI

I look forward to announcing our 2018 teaching teams in the coming weeks. I will continue my meetings with all members of staff over the next couple of days to share with them their teams for next year. The selection criteria was pretty simple, where will our children most benefit from our talents and experiences?

This week we will continue to confirm our 2018 PE position as well as short-listing our Coordinator 2 positions.

Last week I couldn't get over the energy and love of learning. Our year 4 team working with Ms Ferrari (CEDP), Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Pullen explored reading, comprehension, pedagogy and data analysis. Their work resulted not only in deep learning it also built a stronger collaborative team. That afternoon a large number of our team spent time working with PatR Data and analysis. When we add to the mix Mrs McKay's work with the 'Waterfall,' (Assessment Framework) and our work in planning our 2018 Action Plan it's no wonder our love of learning is having such great effects on our children's learning.

Given our teaching teams feedback re (our strengths and challenges) 90% in the circle and 10% out, one of our professional needs in supporting 'Learning for All children,' is around Assessment. What we are trying to achieve is an intensive focus on a high yielding element within our 'Learning Framework.' Over the next 2 weeks I will be publishing draft goals for your perusal and thinking.

Finally I want to thank all of you for accepting our invitation to last weeks Grandparent Liturgy. What a brilliant celebration of us living out our motto—
What a brilliant time in building community.

Love One Another,

John Laffan

PRINCIPAL

RE News

In last Sunday's Gospel Jesus' words call us to love our neighbour as ourselves. We are called to treat others as we would like to be treated ourselves. To be able to do this, we need to picture ourselves in their place – experiencing all that they are experiencing; not imposing our own values and circumstances. To see ourselves in the place of another is the key to responding with compassion. The origin of the word 'compassion' means experiencing with. If we are able to truly 'experience with' another person perhaps then we can genuinely recognise and respond to their needs.

There is an implicit, or understood, commandment within the command to love your neighbour as yourself. That is, we must first love ourselves. Whilst to say someone 'loves themselves' is used as a criticism of a person who is a bit too vain, that is not what is intended here. If we are to love others as we love ourselves we must first be content and happy with who we are. It is only when we are comfortable with who we are that we are able to reach out to those around us with compassion and be true Presentation People to all.

Assistant Principal Report

Dear Parents and Friends,

We are in the process of putting children into classes for 2018. Unfortunately, we can not take requests for teachers. If you have any concerns that we may not be aware of please put it in writing to myself or make an appointment to see me in the next two weeks. Our teachers spent a great deal of time making sure the classes are balanced and are in the best interest of all students.

Save the date!

Our Christmas Concert is on Wednesday 29th November. Children will wear Christmas colours and families are encouraged to bring a picnic blanket or chairs and enjoy the spirit of Christmas.

We hope you can join us!

Meet the 2018 Teacher and Class

On Wednesday 13th December all children will meet their new teacher and class mates. It will be very important that all children attend this day as a way of setting up for success for next year.

Reports are coming home at the end of the terms so if you would like to discuss anything before the end of the term please make sure you see your child's teacher.

We thank you for your continued support.

ASSISTANT PRINCIPAL

Great teachers inspire for a lifetime

top of the class with greg whitby

I RECENTLY launched a podcast series called Blunderer Voices where I chat to educators and educational leaders.

One of the first questions I always ask is "Which teacher inspired you most and why?" Without a pause, my guests can all name that teacher.

The qualities of those inspiring teachers are things like passion for the work, commitment to improving their teaching and always putting the students first. These are the hallmarks of great teachers.

When I look back on the teacher who most inspired me, it was Alan Drummond, who taught history. Alan was honest when we needed to work harder, challenging when he knew we could do better and always encouraging.

He had a deep passion for European history, which, I have to admit, I didn't share as a 17-year-old. In the end, the effort (his and mine!) paid off.

When I received my HSC results, I was amazed to learn that I was ranked 30th in the state for history. It was Alan's passion and expertise that not only influenced my exam results but my decision to become an English and history teacher.

Teaching is a demanding profession. It is also one of the most important professions in society, which is why we celebrate World Teachers Day on October 27.

World Teachers Day is an opportunity for the wider community to recognise the valuable contribution made by teachers everywhere. It is also an opportunity to pause and reflect on the impact those great teachers had on us and our children.

When you drop your children at school on Friday or you take a break at work, encourage you to think about that one teacher who inspired you the most. Some times we get the opportunity to thank them in person but mostly we live with the memories of their kind words and deeds. What we have become is, at least in part, the result of their influence.

The gift of great teachers is cultivating lifelong learning. For me it was a passion for history, so thank you A.J. Drummond!

International Day of People with Disability: 3 December

The International Day of People with Disability is observed annually on 3 December. In Australia, over many years, the Church has sought to take this day as an opportunity to encourage a truly pastoral view that embraces our total community as the living Body of Christ. We especially pray that we, the Church, can strive to be a people of compassion and relationship, and a sacred place where our gifts are acknowledged, received and celebrated; for then we can truly proclaim that we are 'one Body in Christ'.
